JAN. 3-9 DECLARED U. S. MARINE CORPS WEEK

A proclamation naming the week of January 3 - 9, 1954 as United States Marine Corps Week in the State of Florida was signed recently by Acting Governor Charley E. Johns during simple ceremonies at the Camp in the State of Florida. In honoring the Corps, the proclamation noted the present recognition of the United States Marines. Everglades, Platoon, the third such group of all-Florida Marines to be recruited during the past seven months. Emphasis was made on the fact that during the calendar year 1953, all Camp in the State of Florida were volunteers.

Governor Johns also noted the "For Our Christmas Program" sponsored by the Marine Corps Reserve.

The chief executive lauded the vigilance of the United States Marines and praised the Organized Reserve Big Switch, a yearly project of the State to the opportunity to prepare themselves for the defense of the United States. A page from history, he recalled how the United States Marines assisted in the elimination of private strongholds on the Apalachicola River in 1816-17 and later under Colonel Richard Henderson secured the safety of the Florida settlers from 1836 to 1842.

In conclusion, the Governor proclaimed that it was a privilege for the beneficiaries of the vigilance of the United States Marines to observe the week of January 3 - 9 in their honor.

FAMED GREYHOUND STARS MATCHED AT PALM BEACH

Any apprehension of local greyhound owners that the nationally famous kennel introduced this year at the Palm Beach Kennel Club might stem from the limited opening night when the newcomers were held to a minor role and local dogs swept triumph through most of the ten races.

New kennels include those of K. Kuching, Len Martz, Randle Brothers, Gen. Tex Keene, Jess Bingham and Fred Whitehead. These represent the cream of American racing greyhounds, but they met their match when pitted against the home town dogs. The Lippold, long-time resident of West Palm Beach, carried off top honors when his speedy Birth Mark won the inaugural trophy.

It was the second successive inaugural for Lippold, who took the title last year with Earmarked Seven.

Under supervision of Earl Hartwell, director of racing, many innovations in racing procedure and equipment were introduced and brought commendatory approval of the fans whose approval of the new regime was evidenced by a new all-time wagering record.

This week some of the widely known stars owned by the new kennels will be matched with popular Palm Beach favorites in specially arranged features designed to test the speed and endurance of leading performers. Although beaten in his initial start the Regale Brothers Donator turned in an impressive performance and may succeed in outfoxing his rivals next time out. Randle Brothers Donator is one of the best pups he has developed since Rex Huntman, a dog that reigned as national champion for several years and captured more money than any other greyhound in the history of the sport.

Post time for the first race this season has been advanced to 8:00 pm, with daily doubling on the first and second races.

PORT OF PALM BEACH THIRD IN STATE IN TONNAGE FOR YEAR

The volume of foreign trade passing through eleven Florida ports last year was made up of 2,110,210 tons of exports and 2,049,864 tons of imports.

The 1953 imports total was 85 percent higher and exports 28 percent more than during 1949, the Florida State Chamber of Commerce pointed out yesterday.

Through Tampa's port passed a total of 1,094,551 tons (1,284,036 tons of exports and 329,515 tons of imports), ranking the city as the state's leading port in this respect. Jacksonville exported 1,877,520 tons and imports 758,240 tons. Palm Beach was third with 332,336 tons of exports and 184,106 tons of imports.

In fourth place stood Tampa's port. Over 28,000 tons were exported and 350,000 tons imported last year. Miami ranked fifth in foreign trade with 1,137,057 tons of exports and 259,119 tons of imports. In sixth place was Pensacola's port which exported 104,445 tons and imported 22,941 tons.

Other ports in the list were: Fort Lauderdale, Panama City, Pensacola Beach, Key West and Port Saint Joe. In order, they handled over 100,000 tons to 1,000 tons each in foreign trade.

Trade of Florida ports with other Florida and United States cities and coastline trade on the inland waterway are of great importance to Florida ports. Totals of all port activity, including foreign, domestic, coastwise and local waterborne shipments in 1953, are listed in this week's business review of the State Chamber's research and industrial division.

Tampa stood first with a grand total of 7,422,625 tons; Jacksonville total was 4,631,076 tons; and St. Petersburg 3,430,235 tons. Miami 2,417,337 tons; Port Saint Joe 1,688,223 tons; Panama City 1,061,887 tons; Charlotte Harbor 1,004,329 tons; Palm Beach 810,426 tons; Pensacola 802,394 tons; Saint Petersburg 266,408 tons; Fort Lauderdale 125,868 tons; Key West 87,221 tons; and Port Pierce 36,647 tons. Ports handling less than ten thousand tons are not listed. Shipments between Florida ports are included in the port totals to indicate each port's activity, therefore port totals cannot be added to indicate a Florida state total.

CAR MOVEMENT (Continued from Page One)

The civil movement of packaged beans, then we must add 493 cars to the total packaged cars of beans. Then when we figure that 50% of all beans harvested went to the canners and freezers - and they are not counted - then we must add 986 piglet equivalents to that source.

We end up then, with a total of 1,493 cars by rail, 493 cars by truck and 986 cars "dumped" as the trade word describes those sold without packaging.

Then we must add to the total of 2386 cars 493 and 986, or 1479 cars to the total above, making a grand total of 1772 carlot equivalents of beans for the season. We have then 2386 plus 1479 or 3,865 piglet equivalents leaving the Glades so far this season.

A check shows that the average price for beans has been from $17.50 to $22.50 overall, or a total of approximately $2,000,000 worth of beans.

The Harold Bland organization began shipping potatoes on Monday with a very fair yield and with the average price on Wednesday being $2.25 as against a general average of a year ago of $2.00.

South Bay Growers, is shipping approximately 20 cars of celery per day this week and the movement is expected to get heavier and stay that way as long as market price justifies. Other handlers will begin with potatoes within a few days.

Escarole generally was badly damaged by the frosts and there is a scarcity of this commodity as of now.

The rail movement for the season is given below:

Com.	Wk. Sec.	Wk. Sec.	End
Beans	9	137	9 306
Carrots	0	0	0
Celery	2	2	6 304
Corn	1	1	3 28
Cucumbers	0	0	0
Edible Beans	1	1	12 42
Peas	0	0	0
Potatoes	0	0	0
Totals	10	234	147 959
